HISTORICAL GAZETTEER of LONDON before the GREAT FIRE

By D.J. Keene and Vanessa Harding.

ST Pancras 8 Soper lane.

.....Mathew Collins bequeathed the remaining part of the property, a shop, warehouse, and cellar at the corner of Soper lane and Cheapside occupied by Mr Munns and known as the Half Moon and Diamond Ring, to Elizabeth wife of Felix Lewin, Ironmonger, for life with remainder to her son Felix Lewin and his heirs. In 1661 Elizabeth and her husband leased the property to Thomas Trotman for a term of 21 years from 1665 at £50 rent. Trotman assigned the lease to one Cushey, who assigned it to George Tremaine for a fine of £150. In 1662-3 and 1666 the property was probably the house with 6 hearths occupied by John Oakes, grocer, who was presumably Tremaine's undertenant. George Tremaine was later said to have occupied the property at the time of the Great Fire, but was unable to rebuild, and Trotman declined to do so. Following an order of the Fire Court, Tremaine and Trotman surrendered their interest, and Felix Lewin the elder undertook to rebuild.....
